

Name: _____

Quiz #17

- 1) The urinary bladder is a reservoir for urine; the urinary bladder is made up of two parts, a free domed end and an attached caudal end. Name them:

- 2) The internal structure of the kidneys in mammals are composed of five structures: name three of them:

- 3) In females, gestating fetuses are kept inside a well-known reproductive organ composed of two portions; name these two structures:

- 4) The testicles of males are protected by two layers of tissue, name them:

- 5) In females, the ovaries are held to the body wall by the suspensory ovarian ligament and the ovarian ligament and are further supported by a broad ligament called the _____.

- 6) In female mammals that are pregnant or have recently given birth, the _____ are often prominent because of their use in feeding young.

Word Bank

Anal gland	Urethra
Body of the uterus	Urinary bladder
Fundus	Uterine horns
Kidneys	Vaginal cavity
Mammary glands	Vas deferens
Mesovarium	Vertex
Prostate gland
Renal cortex
Renal medulla
Renal papilla
Renal pelvis
Renal sinus
Scrotum
Spermatic cord
Tunica vaginalis propia
Ureter	